Universe is Complete Genesis 2:1

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them.

Earth Measurements Unknown Job 38 4,5

"Where were you when I laid the foundation of the earth?

Tell me, if you have understanding. Who determined its measurements - surely you know!

God suggests only a 'know-it-all' thinks they know. No one but the father knows. Yet you believe NASA but no one knows.

Jeremiah 31:37

Thus says the Lord:

"If the heavens above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth below can be explored, then I will cast off all the offspring of Israel for all that they have done, declares the Lord."

Proverbs 25:3

As the heavens are high and the earth is deep, so the hearts of Kings are unsearchable.

Earth is a disk/circle, not a ball

Isaiah 40:22 "It is he who sits above the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens like a curtain, and spreads them like a tent to dwell in."

Job 38:13-14 "...that it might take the earth by the edges and shake the wicked out of it?"
The earth takes shape like clay under a seal

Job 38:5 Who stretched a measuring line across it?

In the figures June and December, the white represents the Sun's position in his respective months, at Noon. This shows sunlight inside the Arctic Circle for 24 hours. From June 21st, the Sun moves round the Tropic in a spiral circle, widening every day, until it reaches its destiny on the southern or outer Solstice, on December 21st.

DECEMBER SOLSTICE.

On December 21st, the Sun moves round the Tropic of Capricorn, and during the day lights up the southern portion of the Earth from the Arctic Circle to some portion of Antarctic ice. There is no "sunlight" beyond 80° south, but unknown regions of ice. On the 21st of December, the Sun commences his northward journey again, returning to his starting place, and thus completes his seasons.

And they answered the Angel of the Lord who was standing among the myrtle trees, and said, "We have patrolled the earth, and behold, all the earth remains at rest."

Isaiah 45:11 Thus says the Lord, the Holy one of Israel, and the one who formed him:

"Ask me of things to come; will you command me concerning my children and the works of My hands?"

I made the earth and created man on it; it was my hands that stretched out the heavens, and I commanded all their host.

Why Greenland is important for Golden Dome

Posted By Malcolm Davis on January 27, 2026 @ 14:00

It's all about geography. Greenland is important to the United States' new Golden Dome missile-defence project because some of the most serious threats would approach the US by passing close to the North Pole.

So it helps a lot to put sensors, missiles and communications equipment up towards the pole.

Golden Dome <sup>[1]</sup> is designed to provide comprehensive defence against a broad range of threats including long-range missiles and potentially advanced drones. These include Russian, Chinese and North Korean nuclear intercontinental ballistic missiles (ICBMs) and submarine-launched ballistic missiles (SLBMs). It is also intended to deal with long-range cruise missiles, including the emerging challenge posed by hypersonic weapons, and also fractional orbital bombardment systems, which are now possessed by both Russia and China.

With Golden Dome, the Trump Administration seeks to build a layered missile defence architecture, including space-based missile interceptor systems that are designed to destroy a ballistic missile in its boost phase, when it's still accelerating shortly after launch. Golden Dome represents a significant pivot away from a limited ballistic missile defence capability of previous administrations. Like the Reagan-era Strategic Defense Initiative, popularly known as Star Wars, it is intended to counter large-scale missile attacks.

Greenland is important in two ways in relation to Golden Dome. Firstly, it's under the flight paths of any ICBMs and SLBMs heading to the US from Russia's arctic bastion. By forward-basing missile early-warning sensors and interceptors in ground installations closer to the threat, there's a better chance of destroying those missiles earlier in flight.

Greenland-based interceptor missiles would provide the second line of defence, after the space-based interceptor systems that are the tip of Golden Dome's spear. That second line would be well positioned to intercept an adversary ballistic missile early in its mid-course phase, when it's coasting through space. The third layer of missile defence would be formed by existing systems in Alaska and California that would likely be expanded in scale. They could intercept later in the mid-course phase, or potentially in the terminal phase, when the missile is descending through the atmosphere.

Typical flight profile of an ICBM. Source: Byron Illyes/ASPI.

Secondly, Greenland already hosts Pituffik (formerly Thule) Space Base, which is used for missile early warning and space domain awareness. But Greenland's location also opens a new role in providing assured command and control of the space-based components of Golden Dome. The role of mesh networks in future command and control is critical in this regard. The US Department of War is pursuing what it calls a Proliferated Warfighter Space Architecture (PWSA) that is a 'decentralised' type of network that automatically configures and adapts itself to route data most efficiently between large constellations of small satellites in low-earth orbit. This approach will be the backbone of the Department of Defense's Joint All Domain Command and Control concept, as well as Golden Dome. Pituffik is important because its high latitude location—and more broadly, the geography of Greenland itself—is ideal for supporting PWSA. Greenland's cold, dry air is ideal for communications between the Earth and satellites in orbit by high-speed V-band radio and lasers.

The space-based leg of Golden Dome faces challenges [2] in command and control from lower latitudes, because space-based interceptors must go over or near the North Pole to reach incoming ballistic missiles. So routing communications through ground stations in Greenland is preferable. The importance of Golden Dome's space-based segments, both sensors and interceptors, is crucial if the system is to have any real chance of defeating a large missile attack in the boost phase or early in the mid-course phase. Greenland thus becomes an operational fulcrum upon which Golden Dome must operate.

There is justifiable scepticism about whether Golden Dome will work, and it will certainly be developed at great expense. The project timeline of three years probably won't be met. Furthermore, Golden Dome will confront the technological, cost and program challenges that almost certainly mean it will never be leak-proof, and there will always be a need for a credible nuclear deterrent to back up Golden Dome. Certainly, the political and international security implications also need to be considered, ranging from whether such a capability will strengthen or undermine the stability of deterrence, through to the need to work with allies and partners rather than challenge their vital interests.

The US should now work with its partners in NATO towards a mutual agreement that could see additional infrastructure on Greenland necessary to support Golden Dome. Discussions occurred [3] at the 2026 Davos World Economic Forum, held from 19 to 23 January, but details are few and vague. What would be important is that Golden Dome has the necessary infrastructure and systems in Greenland for providing the critical command and control capabilities to support a PWSA that is vital to support the space segment of Golden Dome. If it doesn't include this, then Golden Dome will be much less effective in defeating missile threats. There is a clear need for agreement that respects Greenland's interests and Denmark's sovereignty while enhancing US and allied missile defence against growing threats from Russia, China and North Korea.

These are of one mind, and they hand their authority to the beast. They will make war on the Lamb, and the Lamb will conquer them..."

Revelation 16:14, 16

Revelation 17:12-14 Kings unite their authority and wage war against the Lamb.

Revelation 19:19 Kings and armies gather against Christ.

Psalm 2 itself then gives the outcome:

God laughs at their conspiracy (Psalm 2:4,5), establishes his king (Psalm 2:6) and the son receives the nations and breaks rebellious rulers (Psalm 2:8-12)

What does God think of Conspiracy Theorists?

Proverbs 25:2

"It is the Glory of God to conceal a thing; but the glory of Kings to search out a matter"

He rewards those who seek out a matter, making them Kings

Daniel 2:20-23

Daniel answered and said:

"Blessed be the name of God forever and ever, to whom belong wisdom and might.

21 He changes times and seasons; He removes Kings and sets up kings; he gives wisdom to the wise and knowledge to those who have understanding;

22 he reveals deep and hidden things; he knows what is in the darkness, and the light dwells with him.

23 To you, O God of my fathers, I give thanks and praise, for you have given me wisdom and might, and have now made known to me what we asked of you, for you have made known to us the king's matter."

Stop tolerating sin from your brothers in Christ

1 Corinthians 5:11

"But now I am writing to you not to associate with anyone who bears the name of brother if he is guilty of sexual immorality or greed, or is an idolater, reviler, drunkard, or swindler - not even to eat with such a one."

1 Corinthians 5:2

"And you are arrogant! Ought you not rather to mourn? Let him who has done this be removed from among you."

Titus 3:10-11

Matthew 18:15-17

"If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault, between you and him alone. If he listens to you, you have gained your brother. But if he does not listen, take one or two others along with you, that every charge may be established by the evidence of two or three witnesses. If he refuses to listen to them, tell it to the church. And if he refuses to listen even to the church, let him be to you as a Gentile and a tax collector."

Romans 16:17

"I appeal to you, brothers, to watch out for those who cause divisions and create obstacles contrary to the doctrine that you have been taught; Avoid them

NOW YOU KNOW MORE - NOW MORE IS REQUIRED

Romans 3:25

"God presented Christ as a sacrifice of atonement, through the shedding of his blood - to be received by faith. James 4:17

"Whoever knows the right thing to do and fails to do it, for him it is sin."
